We were coming in for a landing on runway 18 at KTRL (Terrell Municipal Airport). We were crabbing the nose into the wind for a left crosswind correction. The student bounced on attempt to land and pulled [the] yolk aft [which] caused the airplane to balloon nose high [so that I] couldn't see the ground. I noticed to my right [the] grass was getting closer, I immediately yelled go around and attempt[ed] to take control. The main wheel touched down in the grass, and the airplane nosed over.
